CONFERENCE A SUCCESS

MRS. MATTISON B. JONES DISCOVERS AND MEETS REAL CLUB NEED

The educational conferences which have been inaugurated as monthly gatherings by Mrs. Mattison B. Jones of Glendale, President of the District Federation of Women's Clubs and which are open to all club women, are proving wonderfully popular and seem destined to meet a long felt want. At the meeting held Friday in Los Angeles the auditorium was packed in spite of the many distractions of the holiday season. Mrs. Jones presided with dignity and charm, and had every reason to be gratified over the success of her happy idea. Some of the women who were there were visitors from far away cities, one from Atlanta, Georgia. All were delighted with the opportunity to meet California club women and get some idea of the things they are thinking about and working for. The fact that these conferences are entirely informal and open to all club women without requiring any credentials, is probably one of the many reasons for their popularity.

The parliamentary drill with which the program opened had been assigned to Mrs. Gleason, who has not yet returned from the east. It was given by her daughter, Mrs. Harold Gilman and proved very profitable to many visitors, if interest is an index to appreciation.

Doctor Jessie Russell, president of the Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Federation gave a characteristic talk on mothers' pensions and a resume of the compensation act and of public opinion in support of this matter. She stated that a bill backed by the Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Federation would be introduced at the next session of the California legislature which would provide for the use of machinery already in existence for the execution of the law and not require any new commissions. She mentioned the fact that when mothers' pensions were first talked of a few years ago, the legislature side-tracked the bill offered and instead appointed a commission to investigate the need of mothers' pensions. That commission reported back to the legislative session two years ago but its report was filed and has never been made public. The commission, she said, is still in existence, however, under an increased appropriation, its duties having been enlarged to cover investigation of social insurance.

Miss Paula Dunnigan, District Chairman of Legislation, followed with an enlightening talk on the great number of commissions and the expense of the state administration.

This closed the morning session, many of the women in attendance remaining for the luncheon served in the interval between the two sessions.

The first spreaker of the afternoon was Senator Brown, who was introduced by Miss Beebe, District Chairman of Household Economics. His theme was "Food Conservation" but in answer to the questions asked at the close of his talk he spoke at considerable length on the municipal marketing bill and severely criticised Colonel Weinstock, State Market Commissioner. He told the women the only way to keep food out of the hands of the trusts is to create some other method of handling it. He suggested control of food stocks by the State and distribution through stores licensed by the State. He presented such a bill before the last legislature but it was rejected and Commissioner Weinstock was appointed instead. Some of the women wanted to know what they could do to remedy conditions as regards food trusts. He replied that if women's clubs would take up the matter and prepare a good bill to be put on an initiative ballot, they might be able to do something with it.

Mrs. H. A. Cable, President of the State Federation of Women's Clubs, also talked along general legislative lines urging the importance of casting an intelligent vote, and also referring to the work of the Women's Legislative Council.

Charles F. Lummis, who was introduced by Mrs. Del Valle, gave a fine talk on California history and landmarks, and Mrs. Bessie Bartlett Frankel, District Chairman of Music, introduced Julius Kranz, the violinist of Glendale, who greatly delighted the audience with three of his own compositions. He was accompanied by Miss S. Gertrude Champlain of this city.

Miss Blanche Vance, District Chairman of Education, who gave the last address of the afternoon spoke on proposed legislation for the betterment of school conditions.

VETERANS ENTERTAIN

GIVE FINE DINNER AND PROGRAM IN HONOR OF WOMANS' RELIEF CORPS

Veterans of the N. P. Banks Post, who entertained members of the Woman's Relief Corps at G. A. R. Hall Friday with a dinner and literary program, covered themselves with glory.

"It was a great spread." So say the guests of honor. Under the direction of Comrade Taylor, the hosts prepared and served an appetizing meal consisting of beef stew, baked beans, olives, bread and butter, tea and coffee and cake, and covers were laid for three hundred. That meant of course service in installments, but the old boys were equal to it and in the intervals between the first diners and the second installment, washed the dishes and respread the board.

The opening number of the afternoon's program was a piano solo by Master Robert Tower, who quite distinguished himself.

Comrade Norton then presented greetings and congratulations to all who celebrated birthdays or wedding anniversaries during the month and was himself surprised, being called to the platform to receive a handsome watch fob as a birthday remembrance and token of appreciation of his monthly service in preparing the greetings. The presentation was made by Comrade Clark, Commander-elect of the post. In spite of his surprise, Comrade Norton was able to make fitting response.

A vocal solo by Dr. P. O. Lucas, "Mother Machree," followed, which was much enjoyed. Mrs. James E. Phillips, dressed in a Red Cross uniform then gave a fine talk on the work of the Red Cross work which resulted in an enrollment right there of fourteen new members.

A "musical novelty" number by Master Gordon Collis, which was warmly applauded, was followed by a vocal solo, "A Perfect Day," sung by Frank Booth.

Then Mrs. H. G. Brown read "Christmas Gift," an exceedingly pretty story which delighted her audience.

"Your Flag and My Flag," was read by Miss Knox, and Jessie Dutton and Walter Hibbert had a vocal duet for which Miss Leona Hibbert furnished the piano accompaniment.

Comrade Kanouse, when called upon for an address, went through an amusing pantomime and salute to the audience.

Comrade Henry sang one of the old songs the veterans so greatly enjoy, his daughter, Mrs. Crawford, accompanying him upon the piano, and the program ended with the singing of "America."

A short session was then held by the Woman's Relief Corps to transact a few items of business and arrange for installation of officers the second Friday in January, which will be an all-day meeting with a dinner between sessions.

PROFICIENT IN WIRELESS

The "Wilhelmina," mentioned in Thursday's daily as a U. S. ship practically in charge of Russell M. Grose, son of a worthy Glendale family, carries another Glendale boy, Jason Killgore, wireless operator. Jason recently graduated from the Glendale High School. He had been practicing wireless telegraphy several years and had become so proficient that he had no trouble in passing the examination and securing a license. After making one or two trips along the coast and then one to Hawaii, the Marconi company, for whom he worked, put him on the "Wilhelmina." He started on this large ship from San Francisco on December 1, bound for Antofagasta, Chile, there to take on a cargo of nitrates for New York harbar. Jason signed on for three months but it was thought the trip would be made in two, as the Panama route is to be utilized in passing from ocean to ocean. There are very few wireless operators of 18 as proficient in the work as is Jason, and Glendale has reason to be proud of him.

5000 EVENING NEWS BOOSTERS

There are 5000 boosters for the Evening News eagerly and honestly at work using all possible efforts to build up a strong daily newspaper in the Glendale community. The Evening News gives the local news happenings and stands for everything that is for the building up of the city in which it is published. You are asked to contribute to the reading columns of this newsy local daily, and put it into the hands of newcomers immediately upon their entering our city.

TURKS BESIEGE JERUSALEM

MOSLEMS REINFORCED BY AUSTRO-GERMAN TROOPS ATTEMPT TO DRIVE BRITISH FROM HOLY LAND

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, December 29.—Four Turkish army divisions, about 60,000 men, reinforced by Austro-German troops from the Russian and Rumanian fronts, have begun a desperate campaign to retake Jerusalem and drive the British from the Holy Land, according to reports reaching here.

Heavy fighting is in progress all along a line reaching from Java through Jerusalem, along the Jericho river almost to the River Jordan. At some points the British outnumber the enemy two to one.

The Turks vainly attempted to break the British line at the Java and Jerusalem railroad, and an attempt to turn the British flank at Bethany failed.

Falkenhayn is leading the enemy.

SHARPE ADMITS DELAY

QUARTERMASTER GENERAL SAYS NO CONSIDERABLE QUANTITY OF WOOL WAS BOUGHT UNTIL SEPT. 1

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, December 29.—A month's delay in ordering soldiers' uniforms and overcoats was admitted by Quartermaster General Sharpe before the Senate Probe committee this afternoon.

This delay, camp commanders have testified, has resulted in the death of scores of soldiers who suffered from lack of clothing and blankets.

Sharpe said it took him from April 3 to August 1 to arrange for wool purchase. No considerable quantity of wool was purchased until September 1.

McADOO MOVES QUICKLY

DIRECTOR GENERAL OF U. S. RAILROADS CONCENTRATES FORCES TO RELIEVE FREIGHT CONGESTION

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, December 29.—In the face of blizzards in the eastern states, Director General McAdoo through his operating boards moved quickly today in efforts to relieve freight congestion.

No locomotives were ordered from western points to pull eastern points out of the jam.

In the meantime McAdoo is centering his attention on the great need of the nation in the prompt transportation of supplies. The Board expects that he will recommend immediately the curtailment of passenger traffic and the movement of non-war products and give the right of way to coal and war materials.

SATO MAY BE RECALLED

JAPANESE PRESS CREDIT THE RUMOR THAT JAPANESE AMBASSADOR AT WASHINGTON MAY BE REPLACED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

TOKIO, December 29.—Despite official denial the Japanese press today placed credence in the report made public here that Ambassador Sato, now representing Japan, is to be recalled. Among the men mentioned to succeed him are Vice Count Ishii and Vice Foreign Minister Shidehara.

GERMANS AGREE TO PLEBISCITE

PETROGRAD, December 29.—German delegates to the Brest-Litovsk conference are reported as having privately agreed to a plebiscite to determine the future disposition of Alsace-Lorraine. Such concessions were not formally made in the announcement of terms outlined by Count Czernin. Declarations that have been covered in private conferences are regarded here as evidence of favorable steps toward general peace.

GLENDALE'S FLOAT

PRETTY GIRLS SELECTED BY COMMITTEE TO REPRESENT CITY AT PASADENA

Thirty-six pretty girls of Glendale have been selected to represent the City at Pasadena on New Year's Day in connection with the city's float, and if the plans of the Float Committee are carried out, as we all know they will be, the girls will have a lovely floral setting for their beauty. The girls are:

Miss Cecelia Lyon,
Miss Josephine Laughlin,

Mrs. E. M. Tuft.

Some growers are responding to the call of the committee for flowers but thousands of blossoms will be needed and any one prepared to given even a small contribution of white flowers or greenery is requested to register her name and address with the Chairman, Mrs. H. S. Duffield, 1222 Lomita avenue, Glendale 28-W.

This means much for the credit of Glendale and the honor of the Red Cross, and citizens are urged to cooperate without stint and make it a matter of personal responsibility to see that our float is all it should be.

Automobiles have been placed at the service of the committee and the flowers will be collected Monday. A beautiful design has been chosen and Glendale would not refuse the prize should it be offered her.

PRESBYTERIAN SERVICE FLAG

Two additional stars have been placed on the Service Flag, making the present total 32. This church is proud of the fact that so large number of young men have gone out from this congregation, and the end is not yet. The beautiful flag made possible through the gift of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Preston occupies a prominent place in the church auditorium.

SNOW IN GLENDALE

An Evening News reported had the novel experience Friday of gathering a handful of snow almost in the heart of Glendale while the mercury outside showed over 70 degrees above zero. This was in the refrigerating room of the Crystal Ice and Cold Storage Co. Ammonia pipes were coated with four inches of snow which made a dazzling sight. Two new cold storage rooms have been added recently and new machinery is being placed to bring the capacity of the plant up to 26 tons a day, while the refrigerating rooms will give a storage capacity of more than 1000 tons, which will provide for the longest heated term to be apprehended.

CONGREGATIONAL BROTHERHOOD

The Brotherhood of the Congregational church will entertain the ladies on New Year's eve. There will be a fine program of music and readings, to be followed by a social hour, at the close of which a watch meeting of song and prayer will be held until the New Year dawns. All the members of the congregation are urged to be present on this occasion.

EXEMPTION BOARD

The Board reports steady progress in disposing of the Questionnaires. Olin Spencer and Councilman Muhleman are assisting today. Office will be open tomorrow, Sunday, from 9 to 12. Will not be open New Year's Day. Sessions every evening except Sunday and holidays.

ENDORSE ELECTION

CITIZENS FAVOR PROMPT ACTION TO CONSOLIDATE WATER AND LIGHT SYSTEMS

The call for a mass meeting at the Tropico City Hall to consider a bond election to make possible the extension to that district of the Glendale light and water service, drew an audience which comfortably filled the auditorium. It was an intelligent and interested audience which plied the officials with questions which threw light on all phases of the proposition, and at the end a practically unanimous vote was recorded instructing the officials to call the proposed election at the earliest date possible.

All members of the Glendale and Tropico Boards of Trustees were present save Trustee Veselich of Tropico. Also present were City Manager Watson, City Engineer Lynch, City Attorney Evans of Glendale, and City Attorney Shaw, and City Clerk Van Wie of Tropico.

Trustee Peters called the meeting to order and introduced Trustee Thompson, president of the Glendale Board, who proceeded to explain the purpose of the meeting. He said:

"This meeting was called for the purpose of outlining a plan under which the public utilities of Tropico could be taken over by the Public Service Department of Glendale.

Rates

"You perhaps are familiar with the low rates for water and for light which are in effect in Glendale. At the present time the light rate in Glendale is 50c a month minimum charge for service and 2c per kilowatt for all that is used. It is the lowest rate in existence in California today with the exception of one small municipality. The water rate is $1 for 1000 cubic feet and 2c per hundred cubic feet for all over that amount. By the consolidation of the two cities we hope to reduce that water rate to a still lower figure.

Advancing Credit

"When Glendale started to furnish light and water as public utilities it was necessary for tax payers as voters to advance a credit in order to do business. Every business must have capital to start with. So bond elections were held in the City of Glendale and $348,000 has been voted to finance the water and light department. No tax payer in the City of Glendale has ever been called upon to pay a single cent of taxes for these utilities, and the rates have been constantly reduced to what they are today. The tax payers voted $348,000. At the present time we owe $330,500. We have paid the difference in this indebtedness out of the profits of the Department and our books will show a surplus of $80,000 to the credit of these utilities. We do not have this $80,000 in the treasury of Glendale, but it has gone into additions and betterments of the plants until at the present time the value of the system is $450,000.

"Since consolidation has been effected, it will be necessary for the people of this district to also advance a credit in order that the public utilities may be extended to this district and that you may enjoy the same low rates we have today in Glendale. We have gone into this somewhat at length and figured it out from every point of view and we know it will not be necessary for any of this money to be paid in taxes. It will be paid out of the earnings.

Amount of Bond Issue

"It will take $55,000 for the water system and $45,000 for the lighting plant, to take this business over.

Eliminating Competition

"We do not think it would be good business for us to attempt to compete with companies which exist here today. We have an example in Pasadena where they have a municipal lighting plant which has been fighting another company for some time at a cost of $1,000,000 and the fight is not over yet. We do not want a fight of that kind, so the only thing to do is to take over the utilities you have by voting $100,000 in bonds, which will give us the necessary credit. Mr. Lynch is here with figures, and any questions you may wish to ask will be answered."

Mr. Lynch, manager of the Public Service Department of Glendale, then came forward and answered the questions which followed each other thick and fast as follows:

Ques.—"Would it not be necessary to vote more than $100,000 in order to put these plants in condition to properly serve us?

Ans.—We figure this will be all that will be necessary because the earnings will take care of the rest, and we expect to save money by consolidating. The systems will yield quite a large surplus available for rebuilding. All the rebuilding of our

ALL BECAUSE

Our newspapers carried this week a story to the effect that on some parts of the Western front German soldiers and soldiers of the Allies exchanged courtesies on Christmas day in the way of kindly greetings and friendly intercourse.

That such a thing can be done on Christmas day leads one to ponder why it is followed by the exchange of death-dealing shots from rifle and gun the next day.

That we are warring against a people for whom we have no ill will is borne home to us.

That people who have no ill will against us and our allies are fighting us is also certain.

They fight because they are the victims of a system of government which has placed into the hands of a few power-mad brutes the control of their destinies, the dictation of their lives and their conduct, and gives them no opportunity to express their wishes in the matter.

We and our allies fight because the same few power-mad brutes who control the destinies of their subjects would also control our destinies, would make our lives subject to the whims of a merciless monarch mad with a dream of world-wide power.

Because of the few, the whole world fights—not because the warriors are eager for conflict or for blood.

The Allies are of course determined that they shall not fall into the same situation in which the German people are in.

And so we fight.

And the world suffers and writhes in agony because of a few perverted individuals among its population.

It seems incongruous.

But it is nevertheless true.—Hollywood Citizen.

MELTING POT EFFECTIVE

Every once in a while some distinguished citizen of German ancestry, but naturalized as an American, speaks in burning words that should be dinned into the ears of all, native-born or naturalized.

Professor Max F. Meyer of the University of Missouri was recently invited to join an anti-American society. He replied:

"I am thoroughly familiar with the present organization of the German social body and with its culmination, the present German government. I am much more familiar with it than any of your committee. I have lived in Germany twenty-five years. I was born there. I was educated there. I spent nineteen years of my life in German educational institutions from the kindergarten to the research laboratory. If Germany wins this war, fifty years hence its government will rule the American people. I do not want my children to be under this yoke which I escaped by coming to America. My hope is that the German government will be overthrown and that the German nation, my relatives and friends, will enter an international organization for peace and justice."

SOME ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF THE RED CROSS

A few of the many wonderful accomplishments of the American Red Cross in the past six months are noted in a statement just issued by Marshal Hale, Manager of the Pacific Division, who has just returned from a tour through Arizona and southern California.

"In the present Membership Drive for ten million new members I do not believe that any loyal American will refuse to have a part in the work of the American Red Cross because he or she does not believe in the ideals of the American Red Cross. Many, however, have only a hazy idea of the broad field covered by the American Red Cross.

"The fundamental purpose of the American Red Cross is to relieve human suffering, and in the present crisis the work of the American Red Cross War Council has proceeded on the theory that its work should contribute to these great aims.

1. To be ready to care for our soldiers and sailors on duty wherever and whenever that care may be needed.

2. To shorten the war—by strengthening the morale of the allied peoples and their armies, by alleviating their sufferings in the period which must elapse until the American army can become fully effective abroad.

3. To lay foundations for an enduring peace—by extending a message of practical relief and sympathy to the civilian population among our Allies, carrying to them an expression of the finest side of the American character.

"Work of the American Red Cross in the United States has been directed to co-operation with the Army and Navy for the protection of the health and welfare of our soldiers in camps and cantonments; and to stimulate and guide the volunteer work of the women in the manufacturing of supplies and comforts and to co-operate with the Government in all relief agencies.

"A war fund of $100,000,000 was raised of which $85,000,000 has been paid in and $40,000,000 already expended for work. In France $20,601,240 has been spent; in Roumania $1,518,398; in Italy $214,000; in Serbia $493,203; in Belgium $720,001; in England $1,606,520; in United States $3,310,216, and in especially designated funds $1,417,625. This latter sum represents money given for specifically stated purposes.

"The recent Halifax disaster is an example of the emergency work of the American Red Cross. Special trains carrying supplies of food, clothing, hospital equipment, doctors and nurses were on the way within a few hours, and word was sent broadcast throughout the world that the American Red Cross was 'on the job and that if assistance were needed it would be asked.' When the call was sent out by Canada it was for permanent relief as all temporary needs had been taken care of by the American Red Cross out of the interest of the special endowment fund.

"The Woman's Bureau of the American Red Cross has charge of the preparation of the millions of cases of surgical dressings, hospital supplies, knit goods, comfort-kits and refugee clothing. A Junior Auxiliary has been organized at the call of President Woodrow Wilson to include every school child in special work, most of which is directed toward care for the children suffering in the war.

"The Bureau of Nurses has enrolled for various kinds of duty more than 14,000 trained nurses and a call has now been issued for thousands more to fill the needs at home and abroad.

"The Bureau of Civilian Relief has been organized to supervise the home service which includes all the relief work done locally by Red Cross Chapters for the benefit of the dependent families of absent soldiers and sailors, as well as the after-care and employment of men crippled in the service.

"The American Red Cross is being made the victim daily of malicious slanders, most of which pertain to misdirection of articles made by the women, and inasmuch as the national organization, division organization or any chapter has not in a single instance been able to verify a single derogatory report, we must assume that these slanders are perpetrated as a part of enemy propaganda. Any one hearing such stories will confer a favor on the American Red Cross by reporting the story and the name of the person telling it immediately."

MEAT IN STORAGE

The big packers will have no difficulty in explaining to their own satisfaction the increase of 80 per cent in one year of the stock of frozen and cured beef. Their favorite excuse is that, owing to the scarcity of fodder, cattle growers have been rushing their animals to market, where the packers benevolently take them at prices fixed by themselves in most cases.

Considerably more than a year ago beef stocks in warehouses began to show such increases in spite of rapidly soaring retail prices that the department of agriculture investigated the situation, but could do nothing more than report upon the facts. Notwithstanding an insistent demand at home and abroad, the accumulation has continued and is now the largest ever known.

One of these days the food administration may be able to throw some light on this subject. The condition which confronts the country is not a natural one. With the greatest demand and the highest prices for beef ever known, cattle growing ought not to languish. In time of peace every governmental effort to remedy the peculiar practices of the beef trust failed. Perhaps by means of the new powers acquired as a result of war it will be possible so to adjust matters that beefless Tuesdays will not necessarily be habitual.—New York World.

First Lieut. Fred Weisenheimer, who was here on a 10-day furlough from Camp Funston, Fort Riley, Kansas, to visit his family at 1331 West Seventh street, started on his return to camp Friday. His sister, Mrs. Fred L. Thompson and their mother live at 1314 West Fifth street.

Mr. and Mrs. Logan Bowens, of Modesto, who have been visiting Mrs. Bowens's father, S. L. Borthick, of 1308 W. Seventh street, started home today. They drove down in their machine last week via. Mrs. H. L. Brown reports that she had a letter from her son, Evart Omer Brown who left Mare Island Dec. 7th and reached Philadelphia Dec. 14th. He is in the Naval Reserve and enlisted as cook, first class, though he does not expect to be called upon for service in that line until he reaches France. He reports that the weather is very cold and the California boys feel it considerably. Christmas was so lonely without him that Mr. and Mrs. Brown went to Redondo for the day.

Among those who spent Christmas out of town, was Mrs. Edgar W. Pack 430 S. Adams street, who was the guest of former Glendale residents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hezmalhach, of Fullerton. Prior to this visit Mrs. Pack entertained a Christmas party, having as her guests Mr. and Mrs. Allin and son of Van Nuys, Mr. and Mrs. Davis of Lankershim, Dr. and Mrs. Chase and Shirley of Glendale. The house was artistically decorated with the usual colors, red and green, and a most interesting as well as enjoyable evening was spent.

APPRECIATION

As we enter the New Year, which, let us hope, will be the most memorable since the Incarnation, because in it the Great War will end, I would like to extend a "thank you" to all my friends and policy-holders for the favors which they have bestowed on me. I sincerely appreciate them and earnestly hope that I may be able, in some measure, to repay.

To all whom I have insured, one word: "Congratulations."

To all who are considering it: "Come in and share with us all the benefits which our fine Company has built up in 52 years."

My most earnest desire is that I may continue to be of service.

Faithfully Yours,

W. B. Kirk

"Provident" Life Underwriter

Mrs. Irene Mabry, of Coalinga, is visiting her son, Dr. William Mabry of Acacia avenue.

The Christmas cantata entertainment of the Tropico Methodist church will be given Sunday evening under direction of Dr. P. O. Lucas, choir master.

Mrs. James A. Farrell, 123 East Broadway, Friday entertained as a luncheon guest, her old friend, Mrs. Youle, of Vermont avenue, Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Brown of Blanche avenue, will entertain on New Year's day, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bennett and daughter from Ducor, California, also Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bennett and family of Mira Loma avenue.

Miss Ethel Preston, of 1414 Sycamore avenue, entertained members of the Young Peoples' Society of the Glendale Congregational Church on Thursday evening. A short business session was held after which refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed.

Howard M. Anderson was home from Fort MacArthur to visit his mother and brothers, last Monday and Tuesday. The absence of his father and brother George made Christmas less joyful. Mr. Anderson and George are at Blythe, California, and report everything fine.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Cooper and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Miller, of Hanford, California, who have been guests in the home of Mrs. Chauncy B. Lane of 1315 Chestnut street, returned home this morning. The party motored up from Hanford last Monday and enjoyed a family reunion and dinner on Christmas day. On Wednesday they visited Camp Kearny and San Diego. Other Christmas guests at the Lane home were: Mrs. Arvilla Blakeley of Long Beach, and Mrs. Mabel A. Fowler and son Freeman Fowler.

G. D. Mercer and wife were guests of J. E. Peters and family, 1500 Colorado, Friday. The Mercers went back to their old home, Liberty, Ill., near Quincy, last June, to see two sons who had volunteered with the Medical Corps and were about to leave for service. They rented their home, 1258 W. Fifty-third, Los Angeles, so will need to live in apartments until it is vacated. They may become residents of Glendale, yet. When they left Liberty, the mercury was 12 below, hence California's sunny welcome was a delightful change.

MANGER SERVICE

The Third Street Episcopal Sunday School had its Christmas tree entertainment and Manger Service Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A large attendance was there to enjoy the delightful program which had been prepared, and a splendid offering of good things for the Deaconess Wile Home was the result.

Friday night the congregation voted the sum of $25 to furnish a new bed for the new home and the additional Christmas Day offering of $5.25 will be added to this amount for the benefit of this worthy cause.

AT RED CROSS HEADQUARTERS

At the Red Cross headquarters Friday there was a comparative lull in the strenuous activity that usually characterizes the scene, though workers were present. Mrs. A. M. Beamon, for instance, was busy with Comfort Bags, Mrs. Ellis was at work on hospital shirts, Mrs. Blackburn was checking lists turned in by lieutenants in the Red Cross drive.

Mrs. Beamon says the chapter has manufactured and filled and delivered to Glendale boys, to date, 247 Comfort Bags.

TWIN GIRLS

Sycamore avenue residents are quite elated over the arrival of twin girls brought by the stork last Thursday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bennett, of 1418 Sycamore avenue. They have been named Margaret and Mary. Mother and children are at the Sisters' Hospital in Los Angeles and all are doing well.

present plants has been done out of the income. A further objection to a large bond issue is the big interest.

Mr. Treadwell—Where are those figures of $45,000 for the electric light plant found?

Ans.—We consider that $45,000 would be the outside figure. The Edison reports show that up to March 1, $38,000 has been put into the system. I have not been able to check over the figures to see if anything has been improperly included. Some minor extensions will be required in order to complete distribution to Tropico.

Ques.—What disposition would be made of the bonds?

Ans.—Mr. Brand has agreed to take the water bonds. The Edison Company has not said definitely what it would do. Five per cent. is the interest proposed on the water bonds. Brokers tell us the bonds could be easily sold.

Trustee Thompson—The earnings of the utilities would pay the interest, i.e., the whole plant would take care of the interest. Since we have acquired the light and water plants we have paid off $18,500 in bonds and have created a surplus of $80,000 which has been put into additions and betterments which have made the plant worth $450,000. In applying to the Railroad Commission for an appraisement we would have to make an inventory to verify the figures we proposed to pay.

Mr. Treadwell—We have had an appraisement of the lighting system.

Mr. Lynch—That was five years ago and the system has been practically rebuilt since then.

Hal Davenport—Isn't it a fact that the Railroad Commission allowed a price of $90,000 for the water system?

Mr. Thompson—The Railroad Commission would not forbid our paying a lower price which was acceptable to the holder of the plant.

City Attorney Evans—The Railroad Commission would not go into the price unless you asked it to fix a price. All the Railroad Commission wants is to be assured that the utilities would extend equally as good service after the transfer as before. They are looking after the consumers to see that no injustice is done after such a transfer.

Ques.—Would the water rates be the same?

Mr. Thompson—They probably will be to start with; but we expect to reduce the rate to a 75c minimum. We now charge $1 for 1000 cubic feet.

No Further Bond Issues

Mr. Rittenhouse—As I understand the matter, the City of Glendale is bonded for $348,000. This district, as it will become a part of Glendale will be bonded for $100,000. After these bonds are voted, the two cities will be on an equality. What affects Glendale will affect this part. They will have the same rates and the same improvements. There will be no call for any further bond issues from this district.

Mr. Thompson—We figure all the bonds ought to be retired by 1950. We would want these to be retired about the same time.

Mr. Rittenhouse—Is the valuation of this district enough to vote $100,000?

District Valuation

Mr. Lynch—I understand the valuation is about $1,400,000. On a 15 per cent basis that permits $210,000 of bonded indebtedness. The interest rate would be a little higher than our bonds carry on account of the present condition of the money market, but the utilities department will take care of the matter so it will cut no figure. The water and light departments would yield an income of about $25,000 a year. The operating expense would be in the neighborhood of $13,000 and there would be about $1000 a month available for extensions and betterments.

Irrigation Rates

Mr. Davenport—The irrigating rate has not been spoken of.

Mr. Thompson—The rate today in effect in Glendale is less than the lowest rate furnished in the San Fernando district.

Mr. Davenport—Our rate is 5c per inch. I understand in Glendale it is 2c.

Mr. Lynch—Our rate is 2c for each one hundred cubic feet or one and 45-100 cents per miner's inch. I understand the rate in Tropico is 10c per hundred feet. Our rate is one of the lowest I know of in this end of the state, and it applies to houses, gardens, lots and acreage. The rate to farmers in the San Fernando figures slightly under 3c an inch or 2.98 cents for irrigation water from the Los Angeles aqueduct.

When Effective

Mr. Fram—Most of our people went into this matter very thoroughly before the last bond election. What concerns me principally is this: How soon will it be possible to hold this bond election and if a bond election is held and carried, how soon will you be able to consolidate the public utilities so we may have water next summer?

Mr. Thompson—If we start immediately after consolidation it will be about the first of May before the utilities can be taken over, provided no difficulties are encountered. That is the reason we bring up this matter, so that you can enjoy these low rates as soon as possible.

Pressure

Ques. (Acacia avenue resident)—Will we have better pressure?

Mr. Lynch—The pressure available from the reservoir that supplies Tropico is not high enough. At the best there is not over 50 pounds pressure. A great deal of Tropico territory that lies east of Glendale avenue has been for the past three years on the Glendale reservoirs. The Tropico Water Company has for several years dumped in a sufficient amount of water to take care of their patrons east of Glendale avenue and have connected their pipes in such a way as to get the higher pressure. The pressure is not sufficient and that will be one of the first things for us to go after. There is no reason why the pressure should not be made adequate for all over the system. You will need a small reservoir somewhere in the hills to give you a pressure of 40 to 80 pounds.

Office

Mr. Rittenhouse—I would like to ask if it is the intention of the Glendale Board of Trustees to maintain an office for the collection of water and light bills.

Ans.—Yes. We intend to maintain an office where you can pay your bills without having to come to Glendale.

Some discussion followed in regard to the earliest date at which the consolidation of the utilities could be effected, City Attorney Evans holding that the preliminary ordinances could be put through in 30 days. He said further: "If you do not go before the Railroad Commission asking for a valuation, there would be no delays so far as the commission is concerned. You would merely have to file an application with the Commission, which would not take more than fifteen days.

I understand the City of Tropico had an option to purchase from the

KILL THE CATS

MRS. BLAIR ADVOCATES SAVING THE FOOD WE ARE NOW GIVING PETS

"Up to the present there has been a relatively small denial of pleasures, comforts and conveniences on the part of the average citizen. He is drawing upon the general store of supplies in the country with almost the same freedom as before America came into the war. This cannot continue without serious hurt to the nation and to the world." These are the words of one cabinet member, and he says, "Unless the people economize in every possible direction," etc. In another place Hoover tells us, "Many people have thought of the war as far away, as a remote impersonal thing, a sort of a dreadful nightmare—but not as a specter menacing our immediate persons and property. * * But even victory on the battlefield will not avail, if we lose in another equally fateful battlefield—the American kitchen. If we produce to the limit of farm resources and energies and do not conserve what we produce we may lose by waste." Hoover says on the food cards, "Our problem is to feed our allies this winter by sending them as much food as we can of the most, concentrated nutritive value in the least shipping space. These are wheat, beef, pork, dairy products and sugar. Therefore, our allies depend on America for food as they have never depended before, and they ask us for it with a right which they have never had before. For today they are our companions in the great war for democracy and liberty. They are doing the fighting, the suffering and dying—in our war." Everywhere you find people observing the meatless day and wheatless day and are willing to observe any other —less day that Hoover might propose. As Christmas and New Year's come on a Tuesday we are all going to obey Ralph P. Merritt's orders and use sea food, chicken, rabbit, etc. No by-products of the prohibited meats are to be sold or used on those days as liver, tongue, tripe, kidneys, etc. Fact is in ordinary times nothing was said of these byproducts. And in ordinary times nothing is said of the domestic cat. Now in these extraordinary times we find nothing said of the unlicensed cats.

This food consuming force has been in constant operation in ordinary times unmolested, unnoticed by the law. Regrettable as it may seem to the average owner of any number of cats of all sex, sizes and ages, these cats with their convincing appetites do not measure up to the requirements of the food administration. In ordinary times, cat lovers write that "Sensational statements are being circulated as to the number of birds killed by cats. There is of course no method by which a census of this kind could be made," and I add, no way to know the pitiful small sum of rats and mice cats sometimes catch. The cat lovers also say: "Thousands of cats are living in densely populated sections of large cities where they never see a bird and certainly could not kill them." I add and never do see or catch a mouse or rat and have no practical usefulness as recommended by many. This from a plea for cats is in my mind of little value, one cat paper reads: "Among the poor it has pathetic interest, often being the one bit of fun and brightness in homes where life is too grim and strenuous, and where the wolf stands too close to the door for smiles to be frequent. Because the keeping of a cat is so very inexpensive ? (not written in War 1917, times) the cat is here the only pet which could be afforded, and it is indeed a luxury (I agree with this), its winsome playfulness being a continual delight. There will be more tears than usual on the wan, sad faces of poverty's children, and less of cheer and sunshine in their barren, desolate lives, ? should cat license bills be passed, on these little dumb friends." In another leaflet on cats by Anna Harris Smith, we find this advice: "Feed your cats, and don't force them to go outside searching for food, but as this does not always serve the purpose—for well fed cats, like well fed men, are sometimes hunters—keep the cats in the house nights, so that in the early hours of morning the birds seeking their breakfast will be saft. Cats can be taught to come in the house at night by giving them a late supper. Cats need meat or fish certainly once a day. They cannot be kept from hunger by giving them milk alone. * * Since there are, without question many neglected cats in cities and towns it behooves humane people to do all they can to prevent too great an increase of cats. If this were generally done the efforts to bring about the cruelty ? of a license law would soon be abandoned." Now on this same day, 1917, we read from the pen of William A. McKeever: "If every child and young person in the United States be induced to reduce food wasting to the extent of six cents a day the total will amount to a saving of $2,000,000,000 annually. * * I have talked to hundreds of school children about the great business of food conservation, etc. So if you can enlist your child in the country-wide movement for food conservation give him a series of concrete pictures of the starving, dying children abroad. Tell him how the enemy army carried away the fathers and mothers and big brothers and big sisters as slaves and took every morsel of food, leaving the aged and sick and the little boys and girls to starve. Tell him how the poor hungry little ones have had to live in caves and ditches with nothing to eat but roots and bark and grass. And then pledge your own child to waste not a bite of food and even do without such luxuries and extras as can be spared without depletion of his health or strength.

Finally tell your child exactly what and how to save in the dietary. Thus you may lead your child one step toward that charming fellowship and sympathy which will some day make the whole world win. We people of Glendale can digest these facts together. Considering the average fifty families and thirty-five or forty unlicensed cats and four or five unlicensed dogs. You will find a well fed food consuming force surely stealthily sapping the food supplies unmolested and unnoticed by the law. The fats, milk, meats, bread, eggs, fish, etc. that owners are feeding any number of cats in this country today come under every item of the Home Cards. This army of unlicensed cats are eating all this and more. The law is such that one can of milk or ten thousand, one quart of good milk or ten thousand, one can of salmon, or tuna, or sardines, or a hundred thousand can and are being opened and fed to cats. This food in these cans and labor of preparing it for market being used in this way is waste, is reverting nothing back to the government. If the government can be helped by this microscopical bit, Hoover points out to us on the "home card" it can be helped by and can use this mountain of food these cans of milk, salmon, etc., that people are feeding to any number of cats today. This great leakage is worth considering by the city trustees, the mayor or the council, the state, for the community, the food administration or any one is not deriving anything like reasonable returns for this leakage in the foods needed for hungry, starving people. People who wish the cat licensed, regulated, protected and confined on its own premises, find the lawing bodies, as councils, city trustees, or legislatures looking upon the cat as a good joke. The humorous part of this joke don't seem to blend well with the wail of the starving in the war zone. This joke of the cat, the food conservation, starving children, soldiers, war and the winning of it, feeding six or a dozen cats of all ages, sex or size, don't mix well. Feeding any number of cats and unlicensed dogs is today the worst camouflage economy Hoover will find. As far as the cat and the conserving of food is concerned Hoover or any one is helpless.

In a communication from Hoover on this cat question it reads:

"The Food Administration is interested in the elimination of worthless cats and dogs, but has no power to do anything directly since this is a matter for legislation. The question of a federal tax upon dogs will come up at the next session of Congress, which would of necessity force the destruction of many of the less valuable animals. We have heard nothing to indicate that cats would be included. Have you suggested these matters to your Congressman? They are the ones who have the control of the situation since such matters must be decided by legislation."

The State Food Administrator writes the same. Like all the editors all the societies, the doctors, lawyers, animal rescue leagues, humane officers are we all to say, What are you going to do about it? In a Johnson City, Tennessee, paper, one man says in speaking of the common good, "You ditch-digger, lawyer or congressman, especially if you are a congressman, can do a great deal. If you are a ditch-digger or a lawyer, you can talk, or you can write to your congressman."

Licensing cats will protect them, give them a place and their lawful rights, and put them before the public in the same light a dog is held. Men, women, corporations, firms, etc. that deem a cat a protection against moles, gophers, mice, rats, etc., who argue in favor of the cat as indispensable and a factor in business would be willing at this time to pay a license on such an important force. In an article from the Animal Rescue League, Boston, Mass., we find Anna Harris Smith, saying in part:

"Cats are and always will be much more numerous than dogs, and far more difficult to catch. * * Undoubtedly cats catch some birds, but the number they catch has been exaggerated, while the good they do has been greatly underrated. * * No one would be more thankful than I if all the superfluous cats could be mercifully put to death. I always advise women who come to the Animal Rescue League for cats not to keep a female cat or breed kittens. * * Families who keep cats should bear in mind that it is very far from a humane proposition to keep a number of cats and let them breed and give away the kittens. If they are not willing to have kittens or superfluous cats humanely killed in their homes, they should send them to the nearest Animal Rescue League or shelter for animals. There is need of education in this respect, and that education might be carried on by humane societies, by means of leaflets, advising families not to breed cats or give away kittens indiscriminately, and to particularly be careful where they place female cats, but the difficulties in the way of enforcing a cat license law are so many. * * If people want the number of cats lessened let them organize a Rescue League, etc." We find in all the above that cats do have a place in the world's work. Cats come in touch with all phases of life and surely at this great food conserving time should be recognized by the law.

Why should we make these courageous affectionate dogs play the "second fiddle" and let this army of food consuming cats go scot free on this federal or any other license or tax? For the 30,000,000 cats in this country costing five cents or more a day to feed the government or community should receive at least a license for $2 a year or more. When we find salesmen and merchants who sell foods saying the cat owners give more time and money on feeding their cats than they do their children it would seem time for some one to sit up and take notice of this non-essential food consuming force. Wilson says in his congressional message "The only possible antidote is the truth. It cannot be uttered too plainly or too often." It holds good with cats as with the Kaiser.

PASADENA GETTING READY

The twenty-ninth annual Tournament of Roses at Pasadena is at hand. Indications are that the great festival on New Year's Day this season will eclipse previous ones both in the brilliance of the floral pageantry and the crowds which will witness it.

All the divisions of the floral parade will be ready to start promptly on the dot of 10:30 o'clock, announces Dr. Z. T. Malaby, the chief marshal. All Pasadena will spend most of the night before and dewy New Year's morn festooning the final flowers on the floats, so that they will look as fresh and beautiful as possible.

The organization of the parade is complete. There will be the massive and pretentious floats entered by communities, associations and great business and civic enterprises; the wonderful floral equipages of individuals; the division of equestrians and horse-drawn vehicles which never fails of its charm; the scores of bands, and in addition, this year, a great military and Red Cross and Red Star division.

Both the husky teams that will play for the Army and Navy championship at Tournament Park in the afternoon have been training in Pasadena for a week. Those who have seen the men predict one of the greatest struggles the Southland has ever seen. The proceeds of the great game go to the Red Cross.

To complete the day will be the Tournament ball at the Maryland in the evening.

Pacific Light and Power Company for the original cost of its plant plus labor, material and ten per cent. on all additions since then. This option expired the first of November. There has been correspondence with the Edison company in regard to a renewal of the option. The Edison people showed me a letter in which they expressed a willingness to agree to an extension of the option and said they would abide by the statement in the letter, that I could accept it as binding. They figure the value of the plant now at $38,000.

Water Plant Costs

Mr. Evans—How does the value fixed for the Glendale water system compare with the price fixed here?

Mr. Lynch—It strikes me as a very favorable one and one that is way below the price at which such systems usually go. Our plant in Glendale has stood us in the neighborhood of $100 to each consumer. This would run about $72 per consumer. In Eagle Rock they paid $70 per consumer and thought they were getting a bargain.

Attorney Evans stated in his opinion bonds for both the light and the water plant could be voted on at the same time.

Date of Election

Trustee Peters asked about the probable date of such an election, and Trustee Thompson replied that February 15th would probably be the earliest date for which such an election could be set.

Separate Issues

Merritt Ludden—Would you make one issue for the water and light systems or would they be voted upon separately?

Mr. Evans—I think they would have to be made up separately.

Mr. Lynch—Mr. Brand has agreed to accept the water bonds and it would be desirable to have them separate on that account if no other.

Unanimous Vote

A standing vote, which was practically unanimous was taken on the proposed bond election.

Mr. Thompson then voiced the satisfaction of Glendale officials over the representative gathering, and said they stood ready to cooperate in all ways with the people of the Tropico district. "This is no longer an 'I' business" said he, "it is a 'we' proposition."

Wholesale Rates

Mr. Lynch then quoted the wholesale rate for electricity which Glendale has secured from the Southern California Edison Company under its ten years' contract of 9-10 of a cent for the first 150,000 kilowatts per months, and 3-4 of a cent for all over. "Los Angeles would save $1,600,000 a year," said he, "if it could buy electricity as low as Glendale." He also said the rate for which Pasadena is negotiating with the Edison Company is higher than the Glendale rate.

Registration

The question of the registration of voters in January came up and City Attorney Evans stated that voters would have the right to vote under the old registration until April 1st.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE GLORY OF WAR

(By Dana Burnett)

Hoof beat and trumpet blast and banner in the dawn!
And what of the grain in the fallow field when the husbandman has gone?
Sword song and battle roar, and the great grim fighting line!
And what of the woman in the door and the blown grape on the vine?
Drum beat and draped flag and he beneath his shield—
And what of the woman weeping low, and the dead grain in the field?

NAMES FOR FARMS

The slogan "Every farm should have a name" is being promoted in many rural places. The idea is that it makes farm life seem dignified to the young people and leads them to prize the home place instead of running off to town.

Readers of English books must have noticed how country places there have pretty names, tending to make them seem attractive and lovable.

In this country naming country places used to be considered hifalutin. People that did it were regarded as pretentious. It does sound absurd if they choose some high sounding name having no relation to natural features. But if a country house nestling under oak trees calls itself "The Oaks," there is nothing spread eagle about it. Anyway, lots of sound business farmers believe it has an advertising value and are doing it. No doubt it does make the young folks think the home place amounts to more than they had realized. —Berkeley (Cal.) Gazette.
